

SB793 Comparison Chart: Local Flavored Tobacco Policies in Comparison to California State Law

October 2024

California municipalities lead the way on the adoption of strong tobacco control policies, including policies that restrict the sale of flavored tobacco products. Currently, 147 California municipalities have enacted policies that regulate the sale of flavored tobacco products in some manner, and the laws in 140 of these municipalities have been fully analyzed and appear on the Matrix of Policies Regulating the Sale of Flavored Tobacco Products in California. Policies that meet the best practice standard of ending the sale of all flavors of all tobacco products, including menthol, at all venues without exception have been adopted by 81 California cities and counties.

In December 2022, California implemented a statewide law (SB793) that ends the sale of most flavored tobacco products throughout the state, with four product exemptions: flavored shisha tobacco products sold by a hookah tobacco retailer, premium cigars sold in cigar lounges for onsite consumption, loose leaf pipe tobacco, and premium cigars. The state law otherwise prohibits the sale of all flavors of all tobacco products at all retailers, including menthol cigarettes, little cigars and cigarillos, noncombustible tobacco products like chew and snuff, and vaping products whether they contain nicotine or other vaporized liquids. Municipalities have the authority to adopt policies that are stronger than state law and do not contain the state law's product exemptions. Additional information about the statewide law is available at UNDO.org.

The statewide law sets a minimum standard of protection that applies to all jurisdictions, meaning that the state law takes precedence in jurisdictions whose local laws are weaker than state law. For example, in a city that adopted a local flavors law in 2019 that exempts menthol cigarettes, retailers cannot legally sell menthol cigarettes in that city because the state law now prohibits their sale. Moving forward, best practices would be for jurisdictions to adopt policies that are stronger than state law or at minimum align with state law.

The purpose of this document is to compare the strength of local flavored tobacco policies with California state law SB793. The charts below divide local policies into three categories: Stronger than State Law, Similar to State Law, and Weaker than State Law.

Note: Partial policies with multiple exemptions could potentially fit into more than one category, and their categorization in the charts below is an attempt to best reflect their strength and scope of coverage relative to state law.

See Definitions and Explanatory Notes starting on page 9.

Stronger than State Law

Local flavored tobacco policies that meet the best practice standard of prohibiting the sale of all flavors of all tobacco products at all venues without exemption (81 municipalities in bold). Also included in this chart are local flavored tobacco policies that nearly meet the best practice standard, except there is an implicit exemption for flavored vaping products (ESDs) that do not contain nicotine (13 municipalities) or there is an exemption for non-menthol flavored cigarettes (which are not federally legal) (1 municipality). These 95 jurisdictions' policies do not contain the state law's product exemptions.

Explanatory Notes:

~ Not in PETS: Municipalities marked with ~ have new or updated policy provisions that are not yet reflected in the PETS database.

*San Benito County's policy covers the cities of Hollister and San Juan Bautista.

San Francisco's policy has one effective/enforcement date: The July 2017 policy was passed by the Board of Supervisors but did not go into effect as part of the industry effort to repeal the law on the ballot. The policy was upheld on the June 2018 ballot and went into effect 30 days after certification with an enforcement date of 1/1/2019.

Anderson's policy has two effective/enforcement dates: Retailers with inventories less than 50% flavored tobacco products by 1/3/2020, and retailers with inventories more than 50% flavored tobacco products by 5/19/2020.

In California, county Boards of Supervisors have the authority to pass policies for the unincorporated areas of the county, and these policies generally do not apply to incorporated cities/towns located within the county.

Additional municipalities not listed in this document have adopted flavors policies, and they will be added to this document once the policies have undergone PETS analysis. For the full list of all flavors policies that ANRF is aware of, see List of California Municipalities Regulating the Sale of Flavored Tobacco Products.

Moratorium policies: Jurisdictions, such as Santa Clarita, that have enacted a moratorium on flavored tobacco sales are not included on this document. For PETS purposes, a moratorium is not considered to be equivalent to a law since these policies are temporary.

Repealed policies: Jurisdictions that enacted flavored tobacco policies and later repealed them are not included on this document. Delano enacted two flavored tobacco policies on 11/18/2019 and 3/16/2020 and later repealed them both on 11/16/2020.

Definitions:

ESDs = Electronic smoking devices, such as e-cigarettes, hookah pens, e-liquids, and other vaping products.

Most Recent Enactment Date: Jurisdictions may have enacted multiple policies regulating flavors, such as amending prior policy provisions. The matrix lists the most recent date that a policy regulating flavors covered by this matrix was enacted or amended.

Tobacco product: This term is used to describe such products more generally, as state law defines them to include products containing, made, or derived from tobacco or nicotine, as well as electronic devices that deliver nicotine or other vaporized liquids.

Tobacco leaf product: In contrast to the more general reference to tobacco products, tobacco leaf products denote the category of regulated products that contain tobacco leaf as an ingredient (e.g. cigarettes, cigars, chew, snuff) and does not include ESDs.

The policy may regulate the sale of some, but not all, types of combustible products.
